SCHOOL OPENS—Order, discipline, punctuality are the order of the day for many Bay Junior High students on their way to registration Tuesday. The structured routines of school will contrast heavily with the unstructured summer lifestyles led by many youths. Summer curriculums of fishing, sailing, sunning and late night movies have now changed to math,

English and history. Wednesday marked the first regular day of school for students in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District and Monday was the first regular session for the Hancock County School District and most parochial schools in the area. (Staff photo by Leslie Williams)

Waveland Council trims fire, police '80 requests

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Waveland's Board of Aldermen tentatively approved a $584,686 budget for the City General Fund late Tuesday night, including an additional $9,000 for the police department and an $8,760 hike for the fire department over last year's allocations.

That city's police department requested $140,000 in its 1979-1980 budget proposal, but the figure was trimmed to $130,000 by the board. The approximate expenses of the department for the 1978-1979 fiscal year which ends Oct. 30 will total approximately $121,005.

The fire department's budget request of $100,000 for the 1979-1980 fiscal year was cut to $75,000 by the aldermen. The fire department's estimated budget for the 1979-1980 year is $65,240. Line items, or specific expenses the $130,000 will finance in the police department's budget were not available Tuesday night.

Former official reports:

Lack of funds caused chlorine shed design

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Lucien Kidd, former Bay St. Louis city commissioner said Saturday, "If they would check the minutes of the city, they would find out why the concrete buildings were not built to house the chlorine for the water wells it is a matter of record."

that the State Board of Health paid half of the cost to construct concrete buildings to house the chlorine, and that the proper materials were not used.

Dr. Smith reported, "The reason for the concrete buildings with steel doors was for protection from chlorine which is very dangerous."

The Bay Council wants to get the water system up to par because the State Board of Health is holding up two small cities projects until the Leonhard Street well is tied into the water system properly.

Kidd said a lack of funds was the reason for the type of building constructed to house the chlorine cylinders.

"The city received a $5,000 grant for the installation of the four wells; the cost to build the sheds and put locks on the doors, just to put the chlorine cylinders outside of the well houses."

Dr. Michael Smith, president of Advanced Designs, Inc., whose firm is doing plans and specifications for the upgrading of the water system, reported to the Bay Council August 7

Kidd said that the chlorine "isn't that dangerous," especially when it is outside and in the open.

Although he reported it could cause some problems if it leaked inside the well house where it was originally kept.

Estimated expenditures from the General Fund for the same time period are balanced at $584,686 under the board's preliminary budget plan.

Estimated revenues the board anticipates for 1979-80 include:

Privilege licenses, $10,000; building permits, $15,000; police fines, $25,000; revolving fund-state division, $22,000; sales tax, $230,000; road and bridge tax, $120,000; interest and damages, $2,500; land redemptions, $3,000; Mississippi Power Co. and Coast Electric franchise, $38,000; homestead exemption-road tax $4,100; miscellaneous, $3,000; lieu taxes-housing authority, $3,000; homestead exemption-over 65-and disabled American veterans, $4,000; ABC licenses, $7,500; emergency phone-reimbursement, $250; gas tax, $9,200; Bucannan Park, $8,500; law enforcement grant, $8,500; ad valorem taxes, $97,067; transfer from the fire protection fund, $15,265; loan from the bond and interest fund, $40,000; appropriation from the water and gas system, $135,000; and cash to begin, $21,270.

Expenditures expected in the 1979-1980 term include:

General government salaries, $62,200; general government supplies and expenses, $73,100; police, $130,000; fire, $75,000; civil defense, $500; building inspector salary, $10,000; animal and dog control, $5,000; appropriation to National Guard, $300; cemetery supplies and expenses, $150; senior citizens, $7,655; streets and sanitation, $265,500; and employee benefits, $65,000.

Bay continues elimination of Small Cities obstacles

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett reported a flow meter has been reinstalled at the city's new water system pond.

The meter had been down for repairs for sometime, and it was delayed further when it was accidentally dropped and broken after repair recently.

The flow meter is one of the obstacles the City had to overcome before the 1978 Small Cities Projects can get underway.

The other hitch on the Small Cities project, the Leonhard Street Well being tied into the water system before the State Board of Health will let any water services by tied into the system, should be underway today when this will be opened for the chlorination unit for the well.

Bids were to be opened last week, but Dr. Michael Smith, president of Advanced Designs, Incorporated, when checking on the system, was advised in Jackson by the State Board of Health that several years ago concrete block houses should have been built to house chlorine cylinders. The well shelters throughout the city are made of plastic materials usually used for roofing of patios, and Smith said specifications called for concrete blocks with steel doors.

Dr. Smith's firm is also seeking bids for the installation of a control system for the entire water system to regulate pressure throughout the city.

Residents living in the Bowling Street area where the recent sewer system was installed have until March 1, 1980 to connect to the system, according to Mayor Bennett.

City ordinance No. 162 states that every resident living within 300 feet of the system must be connected after a six month notification the mayor said.

A total of 156 utility users have been locked off by the city and 30 have been reinstated for coming in and paying the arrears amount. Mayor Bennett commented to the Council.

"More will be looked as we have only gone over half of the utility users, and plan on finishing up real soon," the mayor said.

Mayor urges enforcement of Bay trash ordinance

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett stated Tuesday night the city will enforce an existing ordinance on trash pickup.

The city has been plagued with calls during the past two weeks about trash pickup, according to Bennett. The Mayor reported the city's two trucks used for trash pickup have been in and out of the shop, causing the delays in pickup of the trash.

Both trucks have in excess of 170,000 miles, the mayor said. "The City cannot continue the pickup of trash like it has in the past, people are greatly abusing the service," Mayor Bennett told the council members.

"With the people adhering to the trash ordinance, the City can get back on the regular schedule for trash pickup. And now that we can pick up trash on the street and the next day it looks like we never pick it up. The enforcement of the ordinance will keep us from having to pick up sometime more than one load at a stop," the mayor allowed.

The ordinance will be enforced effective September 10, according to Bennett.

The new ordinance was signed into effect on Tuesday night by James C. Marshall, Jr., president of the Council. Kelly McGowan, City Clerk and Mayor Bennett.

Gas system leaks criticized at Bay Small Cities hearing

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Bay St. Louis Council held a hearing for the 1980 Small Cities Program Tuesday night. The hearing was for citizen input into the program.

Among the needs discussed by the Council and citizens was the possibility of applying for funds for the repair of gas leaks, especially on St. John, Washington and Julia Streets.

Ronnie Murray, representative for the Gulf Regional Planning Commission, stated the funds available amount to $488,000. The grant deadline is October 15, 1979.

In 1978 Bay St. Louis received

$278,000 and in 1979, $269,000 in Small Cities grants.

The 1978 project is about underway with hold up being attributed to the lack of the Leonhard Street Well being tied into the system.

Bids are to be received Thursday for the Leonhard Street Well.

The 1978 Small Cities project has had several delays such as the acquisition of easements for cross over lines and property for pumping station.

Murray reported that the five easements for crossover lines have been received and the only one missing is where the pumping station is to be placed.

The reason for the delay in acquiring the easement, Murray said, was the property owner is in California and her husband is overseas.

Geraldine Lang, representing the Concerned Citizens, asked if priority could be given the gas system in application for the 1980 Small Cities Program because of the citizens having to pay for wasted gas caused by leaks.

The hearing ended after discussion about the possibility of cathodic protection for the gas lines, especially the new one on Main Street.

Gunshot fatal to 6-year-old

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
A bullet, fired accidentally from a 22 cal. revolver Saturday, pierced the heart of 6-year-old Claiborne R. Varnado of Eastown, killing him immediately.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Edder said the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Varnado and his 6-year-old brother, Debra, and a friend, 7-year-old Richard D. Loper Jr., at Edder's trailer.

"The children who had recently been swimming in a pond, went inside the trailer and found the revolver from a neighbor's house lying on the floor," Edder said.

"Debra became hysterical and ran out of the trailer crying," Edder continued. "The children were not hurt and the revolver was not loaded."

Call 467-5474Consumer agent urges seamstresses go metricBy NORINE BARNES
The conversion to metric is a continuing trend in home
sewing, but metric measurement may not be as new, or complicated, as you think.Pattern companies have included metric measurements on their products for years now, so they can be shipped to all the metric countries of the world—90 percent of the world already uses metric!The advantage of metric measurement is that,
basically, it is a far simpler system than our customary one. Instead of thinking in terms of inches, feet, yards, miles, etc., we will just need to think in terms of meters.Based on the decimal system, meters break down into millimeters (1-100 of a meter).For purposes of comparison, a centimeter is a bit smaller than half an inch, and a meter is a little longer than a yard. But once you've visualized the way meter and centimeter compares to inch and yard, the best way to accustom yourself to metric measurement is to use it."Learning to think in metrics is the important thing," says Jean McLean, associate professor in Design and Environmental Analysis at the New York State College of Human Ecology.Forget about inches, feet and yards and establish the habit of thinking and measuring in metric. Relying on conversion tables or trying to make constant conversion from one system to another will just confuse the issue.A good way to start is by purchasing a metric stick and metric tape. Discovering your body measurements in metric may be a shock at first. That perfect 34-26-36 figure suddenly expands to 86-66-92!But when we go completely metric, your dress size will not change. Although measurements will be expressed in metric, sizing will stay the same—a size 10 will remain a size 10.

Fabric will also be measured in metrics. Rather than purchasing inches and yards, your new fabric requirements will be in centimeters for the width and meters for the length.A skirt, for instance, could require about 1.6 meters of fabric that is 115 centimeters wide. Metric fabric lengths are included in parentheses on the pattern envelope, and in the sewing directions.Zippers and other notions will also be measured in centimeters, while metric seam gauges will be used to measure small areas like buttonholes and seam
allowances.Eventually, sewing machine markings will also be converted to metric, although some imported machines already have metric stitch lengths and throat plate markings.If your machine is marked in the customary system, however, you should note that the usual seam allowance of 5/8inch marked on the throat plate is equivalent to 1.5 centimeters. You've been sewing metric seam allowances without even knowing it.It might seem a little confusing at first, but eventually sewing metric will save you time. And if you "think metric" it will become even simpler and quicker.FRIDAY FLOWER

Re-Elect

OSCAR PETERSON

Board of Supervisor

DISTRICT 3

Hancock County

EXPERIENCE IS IMPORTANT!

When you cast your ballot in the run-off election on August 28 consider the 7½ years of experience of Oscar Peterson as Supervisor of District 3.The continued growth of our county depends upon the experience, knowledge and dedication of our Supervisors.

(Ed. Pol. Adv.)

OVER A THOUSAND
GAS-MINDED AMERICANS
BOUGHT A NEW FULL-SIZE
CHEVROLET YESTERDAY.AND THE DAY BEFORE.
AND THE DAY BEFORE THAT.
ETC.

WHY DO YOU SUPPOSE THEY BOUGHT IT?

FOR ITS GAS MILEAGE.

The Chevrolet Caprice and Impala offer 33% better gas mileage than just four years ago. That's comparing EPA estimated MPG of our 1979 model to the 1975 model—each equipped with a base V8 engine and automatic transmission. (Highway percentage increase is less.)

FOR ITS DRIVING RANGE.

Miles between fill-ups are important. And the Chevrolet's estimated city range of 336 miles and highway estimate of 441 miles are impressive figures. These figures obtained by multiplying the 21-gallon fuel tank capacity by (16) EPA estimated MPG (city). 21 Highway estimate for a 79 Caprice or Impala with available 5-Liter V8. Remember: Compare the EPA estimated MPG with that of other cars. Your mileage and range may vary depending upon speed, distance and weather. City mileage and range will be less in heavy city traffic. And your actual highway mileage and range will probably be less than the highway estimate. The Chevrolet is equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.

TO SAVE HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS.

Special incentives in Chevrolet dealers now make possible savings of hundreds of dollars. So there's a sale going on at your Chevy dealers.
You could save big money on America's best-selling 6-passenger cars, the 1979 Chevrolet Caprice and Impala. Sedans, Coupes and Station Wagons.

FOR ITS ROOM.

Full-size, 6-passenger room. Room for families.
Room for car pools. In fact, while smaller outside and more maneuverable than the full-size 1976 Chevrolet it replaced, the 1979 Chevrolet gives you more head room, more rear seat leg room, and more trunk room, too!

FOR ITS RIDE.

The Chevrolet Caprice and Impala are wonderfully smooth and quiet on the road. You'll love the way they move easily through turns, over highways and in and out of city traffic.

FOR ITS COMFORT.

The comfort of broad sofa-like seats, fully cushioned with deep foam. The comfort of fine carpeting, rich fabrics and tasteful appointments throughout.

FOR ITS CHEVY VALUE.

Impressive mileage and driving range, family-size room, big car ride, comfort and now at sale prices. They all add up to a Chevrolet that's packed with Chevy value.
The kind of value that's traditionally been respected, and looked for in resale, too.

No more shooting accidents, Please!

Alive, dead, just as quickly as you can say the words, a gun can end the existence of a human being.

Two Hancock County youngsters - a six-year-old and a 14-year-old were slain last week in accidental shootings.

Accidents do happen, but accidents can be prevented. Death is the natural end to life, but accidental shootings which take the lives of children leaves one with a sense of unnaturalness.

Guns are dangerous.

Let us lock up guns, keep them out the reach of our young and only allow children to use weapons under direct adult supervision.

We are all wise and can think of other ways of preventing accidental shootings, but often we forget the potential danger of firearms in the hands of the young or inexperienced.

As Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner once said, "An unloaded gun will kill you everytime."

C. C. McDonald Sr.

Tuesday, our longtime friend Mr. C.C. McDonald Sr. was laid to rest. He will be missed by many of the citizens of the community.

Mr. C.C., as he was known to so many, was a fixture in W.A. McDonald and Sons Building Supplies. Although he was 83, earlier this year he could be seen at work as usual for a few hours a day before departing for his summer retreat on Mount Eagle, Tenn.

His two walking sticks were his trade mark for many years, we know it was hard for him to maneuver, but he never complained, was just grateful for life.

A businessman all his life in Bay St. Louis, whose parents moved here when he was at a very young age, Mr. C.C. was a friend to everyone.

The business of W.A. McDonald and Sons was started by his father, and continued by his late brother Mr. John and him, and now will be continued by their children, in the family's tradition.

Being also a personal friend of Mr. C.C.'s wife, Mrs. Katrina, and their four sons, Dave, C.C. Jr., Fred and James, and grandchildren, we wish them all well.

We will, as well as his family and the community, remember Mr. C.C. for many years to come.

It is a smelly situation

There is really a smelly situation in the vicinity of the Bay St. Louis oxidation pond. Residents of the immediate area have a right to complain.

We were under the understanding that when the facility was being constructed, there wouldn't be any odors, but we were led astray.

It is sickening when you can think back about how lovely the area was with the fish ponds, pine trees, water lilies, etc. before the oxidation pond was constructed.

We managed to catch many a green trout, blue gill perch, bull frog, turtle as well as thousands of others before the environment was completely dismantled for the oxidation pond.

We would have liked to have seen the area when it was in a virgin state before the railroad dug it out originally for road bed fill.

One thing we must remember is the fact that after the railroad dug the place out, nature took over and provided many a hour of relaxation to us and others.

Bay St. Louis should be proud enough to do something to eliminate the odors now coming from the pond.

We are told that proper maintenance of the pond would eliminate the odors.

We cannot understand why such proper maintenance is not being carried out, or is that another matter on which we are being led astray.

MAKES VOTE COUNT—Steve Treutel, checks ballot to see which offices he has to vote on as Mrs. John Wilkerson, right, filling in as a deputy in the office of Circuit Clerk, explains procedure. Treutel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Treutel of Bay St. Louis, voted before he returned to Ole Miss for the fall semester. The Circuit clerk's office will be open until noon, Sat., Aug. 28 for those qualifying to vote absentee in the August 28 run-off election. The recent race for highway commissioner in the Southern District shows the importance of one vote when over one quarter of a million votes were cast and only five votes separated the two candidates. ## Bits 'n pieces

It was sure a tragic week, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, and we have to agree with him. The sheriff said Saturday night that the past week was the worse he has seen in Hancock County as the chief law enforcement officer.

Sheriff Ladner is serving the last months of his 16th year in the position, so he has been at the job for a long time.

The response to a call for blood donors last Wednesday shows the concern of the community members for their fellow man. We have been told that more than 100 persons made their way to Hancock General Hospital to offer the rare blood which was needed.

We want to give a special thanks to each and everyone of you who dropped what you were doing and responded.

With school bells ringing this week, there were several parents trying to round up uniforms for their children. One parent was at wits end because she couldn't find the correct size for her daughter.

We have a feeling that not every child in parochial schools wore the correct colors of uniforms to school for the first day.

Congratulations are in order for Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett on his election to the office of president of the Gulf Coast Municipal Association.

Barbara Rappold, Waveland alderman, was re-elected to serve her sixth term as secretary of the association. Congratulations to her on being chosen again.

The association covers the entire Gulf Coast and we have to say our communities are well represented by having these two fine leaders holding down half of the offices in the group.

It was nice to see such a fine lady as Mrs. Louise Lynch chosen as 'Retailer of the Month' by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

We have known Mrs. Lynch all of our life and she has always been the retailer of the day, month, year of whatever in our book.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce should be commended for reinstating the 'Retailer of the Month' program.

It was very disappointing to see so few at the Memorial Service for Hurricane Camille Friday. I guess we have a tendency to forget the disaster which almost destroyed us all only 10 years ago.

We would like to commend the ministers of Hancock County for their efforts in bringing the special service to us. Everyone there commented on how well planned the services were and how they appreciated the slides shown by Bob Hubbard.

We are still trying to get Dave Harvill to tell us where he caught his first pound tarpon a couple weeks ago. Still can't figure him fishing for them without a gag in the boat.

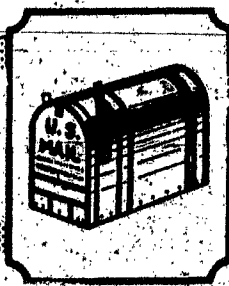

We have a pretty good idea where he caught it and would have liked to have been along with him. We are still trying to catch a tarpon and may just do that someday.

It is a very exciting fish to catch as we were with his brother, Don, several years ago when he caught a small one of 20 pounds. Dave and Donald now have caught a total of five tarpon with the smallest being 20 pounds.

We understand that Dave has taken the state record for tarpon with the 116 pounder. Since we're in with the two brothers and their father, we will stand a chance of catching that fish too.

August 18, 1979

Dear Mr. Editor:
Thank you for printing my plea in your wonderful paper.
I don't know what I would do every Thursday and Sunday. I look forward to reading Bay St. Louis news.
I have been getting the Sea Coast

Echo over 40 years as I am 75 years old. I also read where Mrs. Eve McDonald said we will be going back to the doctor in Gulfport every week. Thank God and State Welfare Dept. and Mrs. Eve for you see I have to go every week to the doctor.
Thank God for our Supervisors giving us a new bus.

School board president resents political maneuvering

August 20, 1979

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

On my rounds of the gatherings around the county throughout this political Summer, I was very upset and hurt on many occasions.

Numerous times people approached me with the statement, and I quote, "The school administration has done nothing for the last four years."

This and similar comments have really upset me and I am sure others on the Hancock County School Board.

Therefore, for those people who think we have done nothing I would like to list a few of our accomplishments:

1. We have built one of the finest cafeterias in the state (Hancock Central). Children don't have to start eating lunch at 10 a.m. anymore.
2. We have one of the finest home economics departments in the South at H.N.C.
3. The drafting department has been completely renovated.
4. All student restrooms have been completely renovated.
5. All space in the old cafeteria dining room has been converted into additional classrooms and counselors' offices.
6. All hallways have been refilled.
7. Most buildings have been roofed.
8. New bleachers have been added to the football field.
9. New bleachers replace the old and dangerous ones in the gym at H.N.C.
10. Drinking fountains have been added around the campus and more are being added.
11. All classrooms have been repainted.
12. I am sure most people remember the Port-O-Lets at Gulfview School because of no bathroom or dressing facilities in that Gym. There are now modern and well equipped bath and dressing facilities there.

13. The football fields at the two schools on the lower end now have electric score boards and bleachers are being added.

14. A complete renovation of the old building at Gulfview is now in progress.

15. Charles B. Murphy School has been completely repainted. The above are many of the things that have been accomplished to improve the physical plant during the past four years.

Now let's take a look at what has been accomplished academically:

1. Your child is no longer categorized when he enters school; He or she enters equal to any other, and back-to-basics is now being stressed.

2. Social promotions are no longer in our schools, but help is always available to the student and parents who seek it.

3. The curriculum has been broadened and many more fields of study are now available to your children.

4. We are now in the process of departmentalizing the schools of this county, which I am sure will improve the quality of education your child receives.

5. All teachers are now teaching in their field of certification. Giving your child the advantage of professional knowledge.

I have tried in the above statements to explain and to show those people of the county who may be misinformed or misled, that the Hancock County board of Education has been and will continue working toward making the Hancock County schools second to none in the state.

Sincerely,

Woodrow Ladner

Sportsman remembers Bay teeming with marine life

August 18, 1979

Editor
Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sirs:

My late father, William Q. Ladner and Bravo Woodcock, the famed Pass Christian peace officer, predicted the present pollution of the Bay St. Louis long before Dupont was ever heard of.

Twenty years ago papa said that unless the cess pools on Jourdan River, Wolf River and Bayou Portage were controlled that the Bay would not support much marine life.

It came true as early as 1947. After the hurricane that year drained all the ditches, it became impossible to catch fish or crabs on the scale I knew as a boy.

I don't know whether Dupont is good or bad, but the health departments of Hancock and Harrison counties should be called to task for permitting so much raw sewage from going every day into the Bay.

A few stiff fines on offending property owners would stop much of the abuse and give us back the Bay the way we remember it.

Regards,

William Q. Ladner, Jr.

State's median family income still US lowest

The median family income in Mississippi was significantly higher in 1976 than in 1969 but still remained the lowest in the nation, according to statistics released today in a report by the Mississippi Research and Development Center in Jackson.

This latest issue of the "R & D Economic Comment" points out that Mississippi's median family income had an annual growth rate of 8.7 percent while that national figure was 6.6 percent.

In relation to surrounding states, Mississippi's increase was higher than the increase in Tennessee and Arkansas but considerably lower than the gains made in Louisiana and Alabama.

"Mississippi and surrounding states experienced a greater increase than did the nation in actual purchasing power," states Carol Saunders, economic analyst, Economic Analysis Division of the R & D Center. In terms of inflation-adjusted growth, median U.S. family income increased only 4 percent while Mississippi's median family actual income gained 7.43 during the same period.

In the U.S., black median family income increased slightly from 1969 to 1976. Despite the improvements nationwide, median family income for whites in Mississippi and Louisiana in 1976 was still more than twice that of blacks.

"One reason for this increasing difference between black and white median family incomes," commented Saunders, "may be the declining proportion of black families in the U.S. with two or more employed family members."

This figure for the U.S. dropped from 51.7 percent to 47.5 percent between 1970 and 1976.

Saunders went on to say, "The percentage of white families with two or more employed members increased from 50.8 percent to 53.6 percent over the same period."

Noticeable improvements were made from 1969 to 1976 regarding income distribution for both black and white families in Mississippi. In general, the proportion of Mississippi families in higher income brackets increased. The greatest improvements for blacks were made in the $8,000 to $25,000 brackets.

The largest gains for whites were in income brackets over $15,000, which can partially be explained by the increase in the number of working wives in middle- and upper-income families.

Copies of the "Economic Comment" are available from the Mississippi R & D Center, Public Information Office, P.O. Drawer 2470, Jackson, Mississippi 39206.

Good Nutrition

by Dorothy H. Rathmann, Ph.D.

Teenagers: Candidates For Heart Disease?

Atherosclerosis and high blood pressure affect some 29 million Americans, causing illness, loss of job-time, and even death. Current evidence shows that these "diseases of the middle-aged" often start early in life. Among factors contributing to their development are diet, exercise, and smoking habits.

As far back as the Korean war, it was noted that almost half of the young soldiers autopsied showed some evidence of atherosclerosis (the buildup of fatty deposits inside the arteries). Indeed, of the 645,000 Americans dying of heart attacks each year, a fourth are under 65 (28% male and 15% female).

No parent wants a child to become a statistic. Yet the teen years have been called the "breakaway years." The editor of one teenage magazine remarked "All teens think they will live forever."

The feeling seems to be reflected in the fact that one out of five American teenage girls smokes. We have all seen young people gorging high-calorie snacks to the point of overweight and ducking bicycling in favor of TV.

What's the answer? What decides the way a teenager will eat when the choice is entirely up to him or her?

Alexander Pope said "As the twig is bent, the tree's inclined." And we all know it's easier to start a habit than to stop one.

So, to have a teenager who eats intelligently, practice good menu planning at home all the time; you will create a taste for good nutrition.

Although a child is influenced by friends and the mass media, opinions are mainly molded by parents and the real life situations he or she participates in. If you practice good nutrition, it will become the way the teenager prefers to eat. (Similarly, your habits as regards smoking and exercise are likely to be copied.)

It's up to you to serve meals and provide snacks which are low in cholesterol and saturated fats. Use low-fat or skim milk, skim milk cheese, ice milk and sherbets instead of high-fat alternatives. Use polyunsaturated Mazola corn oil in cooking in place of a saturated fat such as butter or lard. Trim visible fat from meat. Choose poultry and lean fish. Use whole grains, dried peas and beans and other vegetables and fruits. Stock the refrigerator with fresh vegetables and low-fat yogurt and the pantry with ketchup, mustard, and low-fat margarine. Be on hand with fresh fruit instead of potato chips.

Get them into the right habit. A good habit is easier to form when the child is young and when the habit is a good one. From the natural habit of eating good food, the child can learn to eat healthily and live long.

THANK YOU

I certainly appreciate the wonderful support the voters of Beat 4 gave me in the first primary. I humbly ask for and need your continued support in the second primary, August 28.

If you did not vote for me in the first primary, please reconsider my candidacy. I am young, 40 years of age, energetic, and interested in making the Constable's office an actual part of the law enforcement family in Beat 4, not just a title for an individual. I need your help on August 28th to become the "working" Constable in Beat 4.

(Pd. Pol. Adv.)

Since announcing my candidacy for the office of Hancock County Superintendent of Education, I have sought friends who are vitally interested in our educational system and who are willing to assert themselves in its continued growth. Only by all of us working together can we begin to build a quality educational system for Hancock County.

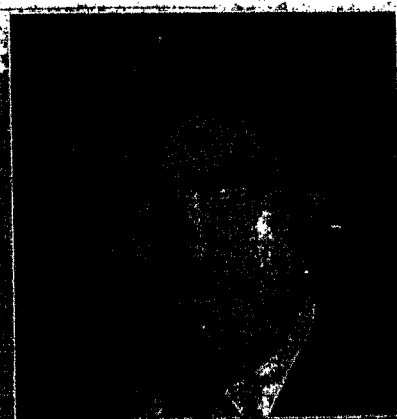

It is urgent that we give priority to maximum efficiency, good management and strict accountability in education.

We must make sure that every tax dollar is used in a manner that benefits our taxpayers, students and schools.

Too often in the past we have failed to look for moral strength in our elected officials. The office of County Superintendent, where the future of our children is determined, requires more than any other office a man with high moral standards.

It's time now for those of us genuinely concerned about strengthening our county school system and providing tough effective leadership to join together and accomplish the many things that have been left undone.

Billy D. Sills will bring a "New Spirit" to the Hancock County school system.

VOTE AUGUST 28th FOR EXPERIENCE LEADERSHIP!!

John D. "Big John" Rutherford has been your Chancery Clerk for the past 7½ years. He has experience! He possesses leadership! He is good at the job! It all boils down to this: will we choose a proven performer; or will we select an unknown quantity. Look at a small portion of "Big John's" record:

Investment of County Funds

All funds, not needed for the day-to-day operation of the County are now, and have been in the past, invested in local banks and other financial institutions at the highest interest rate allowable.

Cooperation with other officials

Throughout his 7½ years in office, Big John cooperated with all local, state and federal officials on projects that have affected the lives of all of us. In fact, he has played a leadership role in securing the local cooperation necessary for many programs.

Clerk to the Board of Supervisors

Although the Chancery Clerk does not have a vote on the Board of Supervisors, his leadership and experience play an important role in the operations of the county. His expert knowledge of the fiscal affairs of the County, and his independent stand on fiscal matters, have earned him well-deserved respect and confidence from those who know him. As a result, Hancock County is in excellent financial condition.

Federal/State Programs Coordinator

The responsibility for the fiscal administration of the many programs now underway fall under the jurisdiction of the Chancery Clerk. This is complicated, time-consuming work, and requires constant supervision and re-evaluation. Big John has also played a leadership role in securing many of these programs.

Retirement: the spectre of later years

Often, sometimes almost daily, someone says to me, "Why don't you retire?" Or I am asked, "When are you going to quit and take it easy?"

For many years I've saved clippings on many subjects as I come across something interesting in my daily reading. Herbert Hoover, president of the United States from 1928 to 1932, was asked on his 86th birthday about retiring.

His answer was, "When I'm loafing I get fatigued. I've known people who have retired - It's not long before they begin falling apart."

Folks should never retire from work. If they do, there's a good chance they'll shrivel up - and become a nuisance."

Recently I read an article in Prevention magazine on the subject of "Retiring," from which I clipped liberally.

The author of the book, A NEW LIFE IN LATER YEARS, said, "If there is any secret to staying younger or prolonging life, the secret is work. A man must use his organs if he wants to stay healthy and active."

Linda Clark, the author of STAY YOUNG LONGER, wrote, "When a man retires he sometimes signs his own death warrant. A retiree now has more time to think. He often eats more and drinks more, thus he flaunts the laws of good health. Soon he may become a prey to liver, heart and blood pressure disturbances. When a man thinks he needs a rest, let him change his activity rather than cease activity."

If retired, what would I do? When there is a holiday and my business is closed, I'm like a fish out of water - I don't know how to pass the time away.

In my opinion, the greatest waste of manpower in this country is the mandatory retirement of competent, experienced men at 65.

Of course there are some lines of activity that require younger, stronger men, but in work like my business, I've found that men up into their 70s are just as capable and do just as much work and are often more dependable than younger men.

And I've found that most men who've been forcibly retired had much rather have kept on working.

Using the clippings I have to make my point: An author who did not sign his name wrote an article with the title, "Keep Working To Live." He wrote that Frank Lloyd Wright, perhaps the greatest architect of our times, was horrified at the idea of retiring, declaring it a murderous business to mind and body.

His life work increased in usefulness and creativity in his sixties, seventies, and even in his eighties.

Sophocles at 85 wrote OEDIPUS REX and at 90 wrote OEDIPUS COLONNUS. That was 2,400 years ago - his plays are still being staged today. Titan completed his famous masterpiece, Battle of Lepanto, at 55. Goethe completed Faust at 83.

Grandma Moses completed a new picture - it was a masterpiece - at 100. Benjamin Franklin invented bifocal eye glasses at 78.

Pablo Casals, the world's greatest cellist, is still giving concerts, although he's over 90.

A study at the University of Minnesota shows that "accumulation of knowledge and experience is retained and brought to better use through years of experience."

Another clipping says that "increasing age does not erode one's reasoning and thinking abilities."

Still another says, "A new and absorbing interest, new work, new employment is the only real salvation for older people who suffer from fatigue."

Another authority believes "that ultra cautious living among the aging is a hazard, even for the patient with chronic disease."

He says too much rest results in wasting away of the unused muscles and faculties.

Dr. Edward L. Bortz, a leading authority on aging, in a statement on retirement and the individual, told a special sub-committee on aging of the U.S. Senate, "Retirement can be deadly. One of the most common syndromes we physicians are called upon to treat is retirement shock."

Biologically, withdrawal from action, either of muscle or mind, ends in flabbiness or atrophy.

Withdrawal from activity weakens. The older we get the more essential it is for us to keep active. Retirement from activity to inactivity often precipitates discontent, unhappiness and illness.

Retirement to aimless living sets the stage for neurosis and depression and invites disaster. An aimless existence is an intolerable one and nature will have none of it. For the good of everybody, the old should work to preserve the functions of their bodies and their minds.

Activity is the key to man's health and youthfulness. Muscles need to be exercised. The more they work the better they are able to work."

My father lived to be 95 years old. He was active all his life. After he was 90 he had a fine vegetable garden for 3 or 4 years, doing all the work himself. He stayed slender and lean all his life at about the weight he was when a young man.

As for myself, I do not expect to quit work until I am physically incapable of doing my job. The prospect of having nothing to do upsets and disturbs me.

State Weather
ProjectionCoconut oil, rapeseed threaten soybean market

Mississippians will have a wetter than usual August, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Agronomists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville, who prepare the forecasts, say acreages of cotton and soybeans have already been lost because of flooding in low-lying fields.

The continued wet weather will be a mixed blessing. Cotton needs dry weather now. Soybeans have been hurt in some areas, but as long as rain is not excessive, occasional rains will help this crop.

Rice producers will be helped by the near normal temperatures indicated in the outlook. Fewer problems with aged set can be expected, add weather experts.

Some rice will be harvested later in August, but it is too early to tell if rain will taper off late in the month to allow for more harvest. For crops as a whole, weed, insect and disease problems could be worse than usual with the wet weather. Cotton insects have been below normal for this time of year, but this could change quickly.

Many cattlemen have had trouble getting hay harvested because of the rain. Summer pastures that are well fertilized and cared for should experience continued good growth.

Mississippi poultrymen have not been plagued by heat stress problems this year. Temperatures were not in early July, but cloudy weather has kept houses a little cooler most of the time. Short hot spells may trouble poultrymen in August.

Soybean demand in Japan and Western Europe should continue to grow at a rate of about five percent annually, but anticipated yield increases and significantly greater planting of soybean exports in the future.

U.S. producers must be proficient in research, government relations, and market development in order to profit in today's competitive market.

That was the message from experts participating in Ciba-Geigy's World Soybean Report at the American Soybean Association's annual meeting in Atlanta last week.

Speakers representing Japan, Western Europe, Brazil and the U.S. were linked via satellites in the first, live closed-circuit TV business conference.

Dr. Hiroshi Nakamura, director of Hohen Oil Co., Tokyo, forecast a steady annual growth of 3 to 5 percent in Japan's utilization of soybeans.

He stressed his nation's need for a dependable source of supply and diplomatically chided American growers about the amount of foreign matter shipped with U.S. soybeans.

He also warned that Japanese consumers prefer rapeseed oil over soybean oil because it is more stable than soy oil in terms of color and flavor reversion.

Due to development of a new Canadian variety, consumption of rapeseed oil and meal is growing in Japan. He estimated Japan's rapeseed imports at about one million tons this year, a 20 percent increase over last year.

Even though soybean production costs in Brazil are lower than in the U.S., said Paulo Roberto Vianna, executive director of that country's Production Financing Commission, marketing costs are higher.

As a result, Brazilian and American beans compete on an equal footing. However, he reported that Brazilian yields, currently at 26 bushels per acre, and plantings, are both increasing.

Vianna projected the 1979-80 Brazilian soybean crop at 543.8 million bushels. Exports, he forecast, would be approximately 68 million bushels of beans, 7.2 million metric tons of meal and 904,000 metric tons of oil.

Crushing during the March 1980 through February 1981 season are anticipated at 440.9 million bushels.

Johannes M. Randag, president of the International Association of Seed Crushers, forecast that the nine European Economic Community countries, plus the expected three new members—Greece, Spain and Portugal—would import about 600 million bushels of soybeans this year, with a 5 percent annual increase in demand.

Randag also called for an uninterrupted supply of soybeans, and pointed to possible heavy competition from coconut oil in a couple of years.

Assuring the overseas experts, American Soybean Association President Marilyn Groot indicated that soybean acreage would be available as long as American growers were assured profitable markets for their crop.

He also pointed to the association's commitment to soybean marketing, and research efforts of the association, universities and U.S. government to improve yields, and called for free channels between the U.S. and Europe and Japan.

Art exhibit offered at library in Sept.

A traveling exhibit of paintings by Mississippi Art Colony members will be featured by City-County Public Library during September.

The art tour, coordinated by the Mississippi Library Commission, will also visit four other public libraries in the state.

The Mississippi Art Colony is a group of practicing artists who meet biannually for painting workshops.

Paintings included in the exhibit were selected during the workshop conducted April 25 through 29 at Camp Henry S. Jacobs in Utica.

Twenty-six paintings were chosen by the workshop instructor Harvey Sherman Harris. Harris is a member of the art faculty at Louisiana State University.

The traveling exhibit includes purchase awards presented by Bush Companies, First National Bank of Laurel, Pine Belt Savings and Loan of Laurel, and First Mississippi National Bank.

Recipients of awards from Consolidated American Life Insurance Company and Colony Award Best of Workshop will also be included.

The Mississippi Art Colony workshop is made possible through the Conference Programs of the Mississippi Art Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

Grandparents Day proclaimed Sept. 9

Governor Cliff Finch has proclaimed Sunday, September 9, as Grandparents Day in the State of Mississippi.

"I am requesting that this day be set aside to express appreciation to our grandparents," the governor said. Norman Harris, executive director of the Mississippi Council on Aging, is urging all Mississippians to join with the Council in focusing attention on our State's grandparents.

both individually and through special activities of churches, clubs, societies and organizations.

A bill was signed by President Carter in July 1978 designating the first Sunday after Labor Day as National Grandparents Day. This year that date is Sunday, September 9th.

"We have become more aware in recent years of the important guidance given to younger generations by their grandparents and the tremendous leadership potential of grandparents," Norman Harris said.

"The ten area agencies on aging will schedule special events to honor grandparents on Grandparents Day," he added.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cardin were their son-law-in and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith of New Orleans.

USM student not stopped by deafness

Mini-Quarter, a summer orientation program at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg, has attracted many diverse and interesting individuals, but Brenda Parker presented an unusual challenge for USM Mini-Quarter personnel.

Brenda, a Gulf Coast Junior College transfer student, has been deaf since birth. She, however, has not let her handicap interfere with her education.

She received her early education at the Mississippi School for Deaf which she attended for ten years. She graduated from Van Cleave High School and the Perkinston campus of MGCC where she was active in student life and was a beauty pageant winner at both campuses. She will enter USM as a junior this fall and will major in Deaf Education.

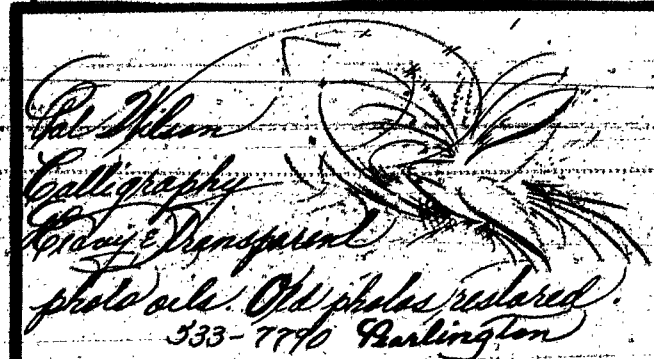

When Brenda registered for her Mini-Quarter session she was met by Mitzie Sowell, of Senatobia, currently a Deaf Education major in the School of Speech and Hearing Sciences. Mitzie is a facilitator for Mini-Quarter and is fluent in sign language.

Brenda, who has an uncanny ability to read lips, primarily communicated with signs although she does articulate words with remarkable clarity.

With Mitzie's help, Brenda had few problems with the busy two-day Mini-Quarter schedule which included visits to academic departments, sororities, various social events and a general orientation to the USM campus.

Brenda said that classroom situation are not difficult. She said that lip reading during lectures and borrowing notes from fellow classmates was enough for her to understand the bulk of her coursework. Many students will come to USM this fall with personal goals, but few will have come as far as Brenda who's goal is to help other individuals overcome the handicap she shares.

A GOOD SIGN - Mitzie Sowell, left, converses in sign language with Brenda Parker during one Mini-Quarter summer orientation session at the University of Southern Mississippi. Mitzie, a Deaf Education Major, was the leader of Brenda's orientation group.

Gandy places campaign emphasis on education

Gubernatorial candidate Lt. Gov. Evelyn Gandy pledged this week to launch work on a major education program for Mississippi "immediately after the November election."

"The next governor cannot afford to waste a single day before going into action and mapping out a plan to upgrade and improve education," she said.

Gandy added that she "will go to work immediately—the very next day after the November 6 election—and put the gears in motion for an educational plan for our state."

"I will have this program waiting on the doorsteps of the Legislature when it convenes in January," she said.

She pledged to spend the balance of November and the entire month of December working on education and "other priority issues of the next administration."

"There is an awful lot of preliminary work and planning that must be done before the Legislature goes into session," she said. "This is particularly true on an important matter like education which touches the life of every child in Mississippi."

Gandy said she will submit to the Legislature "a program of broad outlines and objectives, including a timetable for accomplishing these objectives."

She added that "if these objectives are not accomplished in the next regular session of the Legislature, I will call for a special session in 1980 to give immediate attention to educational matters."

"The time has come to revise and update our minimum foundation education laws for more uniformity in Mississippi's schools," said the lieutenant governor.

"We must provide a basic quality education for students in all school districts," she said. "And we must establish a salary scale that will attract and retain qualified, experienced teachers."

On another matter, Gandy urged support for a constitutional amendment establishing a statewide "lay board of education."

She proposed strengthening education at "every level, including more effective programs for the physically handicapped, the deaf, blind, and visually impaired."

And she called for "expanding vocational-technical education at the high school level, a lower pupil-teacher ratio, and increased use of educational television in the classroom."

VOTE QUALITY ON AUGUST 28th

QUALITY MEANS TRAINING:

Hancock County is growing. And a growing community means better job availability, higher pay scales and an increased population. A growing community also means more problems for law enforcement officers. This growth increases the need for a sheriff's department qualified by professional training.

QUALITY MEANS EXPERIENCE:

Within the past several weeks, many tragedies have occurred in our community. These situations need and demand proper handling so that everyone concerned is treated fairly. For this reason Hancock County is entitled to and deserves a sheriff's department qualified with experience.

VOTE QUALITY:

The second primary will be a turning point for Hancock County's future. Now more than ever, we need qualified professional leadership in law enforcement. Your choice for sheriff in the second primary is an important one. Each vote counts, so please exercise it wisely.

Agriculture drops free lunch info requirements

Under a new Department of Agriculture rule, schools now have the option of sending parents eligibility information only for reduced price meals served in the school lunch and breakfast programs.

Previously, schools were required to send notices to parents giving income and family size criteria for both free meals and reduced price meals.

Schools that wish to do so may also continue to give the income standard for free meals in their notices to parents.

This new rule helps to reduce the potential for incorrect reporting of family income by ineligible applicants. But at the same time, it preserves the simple application process that has encouraged needy families to participate.

The national school lunch and school breakfast programs provide meals free or at reduced price to eligible children based on a poverty standard issued by the Secretary of Agriculture that takes into account family size and income.

The new rule will fully protect the applicant's right to information and their right to appeal eligibility decisions. The rule required schools that elect to announce only reduced price eligibility criteria to notify in written those applicants denied benefits.

The written notice of eligibility determination must include eligibility criteria for free and reduced price benefits for their particular family size, as well as information on how to appeal the decision.

Beginning in the 1980-81 school year all schools will be required to provide such notification.

As required by current regulations, schools will continue to provide both free and reduced price income scales in their public releases to local news media, to local unemployment offices, employers contemplating or experimenting major layoffs, and to any member of the public upon request.

News from the Church of St. Ann

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's Parish.

A rattlesnake, if cornered, will become so angry it will bite itself. That is exactly what the harboring of hate and resentment against others is-a biting of oneself. We think we are harming others, in holding these spite and hates, but the deeper harm is to ourselves.

St. Ann's Altar Society held its monthly meeting Tuesday in parish hall following 7:30 p.m. Mass with Mrs. Leonard Rupp, president, conducting the business session.

Mrs. Vivian Moffett gave the secretary's report in the absence of Mrs. Irene Graff, and plans for the monthly luncheon and social August 22 were discussed.

Mrs. Alvin Ladner will be in charge of the Offertory procession for August.

A Social hour followed the business session. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. September 11 in parish hall.

Religious education classes for children attending public school, grades 1-8, will be held after the 5 p.m. Mass Saturday, August 25, and 9:15 a.m. Mass, Sunday, August 26, at St. Ann's Church, Clermont Harbor; following 6 a.m. Mass Sunday, August 26, at St. John's Lakeshore; Tuesday, August 26, and Thursday, August 30, from 2 to 3 p.m. in St. Ann's parish hall.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL
THE STATE
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Continuing its support of improved education in Mississippi's schools, the Mississippi Economic Council is looking at the proposed evaluation of high school graduates.

The Council's first step in this direction will be taken today in Jackson when several proposed plans of action for evaluating graduates will be discussed by a steering committee of the Special Committee on Graduate Evaluation.

The special committee chairman, Collins banker Greg Breland, also leads the steering committee. "The hope for Mississippi's future rests in its educational system," he said. "Our steering committee will define the scope of the committee's work and suggest procedures."

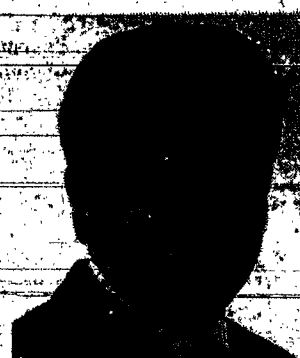

The committee is working under the direction of MEC's Education General Committee chaired by D.B. Massengale Jr., a Pascagoula industry executive.

Breland noted that the MEC has long recommended and encouraged responsible public

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE

Hancock County has a bright future. We have many new industries, with prospects for more. We have one of the most rapidly growing gas fields in the South. The NASA installation is playing a major role in our country's technology, and is rapidly becoming a national center for the navy, and for ammunition manufacturing.

To keep up with this progress, our tax dollars must be spent wisely; priorities must be set. Education is most important for our future. So are good roads, efficient county maintenance, and capable engineering. The Port and Harbor Commission plays an active role in our community. It is the duty of the board of supervisors to see that the commission works at its best. Recreation is an important part of a good county. Tax dollars must be well spent on every thing from summer baseball programs to activities of our senior citizens. Projects such as McCloud Park, and beautifying piers and improved boat ramps all contribute to a better way of life. Let's keep Hancock County's future bright.

Scout Publicity

The Bay-Waveland Girl Scout Neighborhood concluded a most successful year under the leadership of Mrs. Vincent Schott, neighborhood chairman.

Troops traveled to Jackson to spend the night in the Governor's Mansion; cleaned the area for the Pilgrimage; entertained the elderly, the sick, the underprivileged and the handicapped; went to Wyoming on a Senior Opportunity; traveled to New Orleans to the Peru Golden Treasures exhibit at the New Orleans Museum of Art and participated in the Gulf Coast Arts Festival.

The neighborhood sponsored cook outs, camp trips, cooking contests and day camp for all troops.

This year there were eight brownies troops, six junior troops, two cadettes troops and one senior troop. There were 350 girls and adults who registered as Girl Scouts from this neighborhood.

Seven members of Cadette Troop 27 received the Marian Award at ceremonies in the Cathedral of the Navity of the Blessed Virgin Mary in Biloxi. Bishop Joseph L. Howze presented the awards.

The girls receiving this award under the guidance of Mrs. John Longo were Michelle Tingstrom, Kim Clard, Susie Cure, Beilga Winchester, Janet Handshoe, Chris Longo and Amy Carver.

Mrs. John Holmes was awarded a twenty-five year pin at the annual Council Awards Luncheon held at Camp Iti Kana.

For being a registered Girl Scout for ten years, Mrs. Gloria Holland received her ten year pin and a five year Golden Circle for being a leader for five years.

Blue Ribbon patches were awarded to the following troops and their leaders: Fran Cremer's Brownie Troop 460 and Junior Troop 6; Gayle Egan's Junior Troop 292; Linda Dorion Brownie Troop 122; Malena Strong's Junior Troop 32; and Paddy Johnson's Junior Troop 97.

At the leaders end-of-the-year party held at Mrs. Donald Ladner's home, the honored guest was Mrs. C.C. McDonald, Sr., who wore the old leader's uniform.

At this time Mrs. Kitty Reid, executive assistant of Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council presented Mrs. Nancy Gex with a framed Certificate of Appreciation for serving on the Council and for her continued support of Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Frank Hill was presented a certificate of appreciation from the neighborhood for the four years service as cookie chairman for Hancock County. Ellis Cuevas publisher of the Sea Coast Echo was presented a plaque of appreciation for his assistance in promoting Girl Scouting in this community.

Mrs. Schott presented each leader with a "gag" gift. Mrs. Jerry Bourg presented Mrs. Schott with a silver engraved tray in appreciation for her leadership in the Neighborhood.

The Neighborhood sponsored a week of day camp at McLeod Water Park. There were 74 scouts that participated under the direction of 12 adults. The camp was a success even though the overnight had to be cancelled due to the inclement weather. The Brownies worked on arts and crafts, played wide games, learned what to do in case of emergencies, danced and sang.

The Juniors were given a choice of completing several badges. The Juniors who had a valid Red Cross Advanced Beginners Certificate were offered canoeing. The Juniors, Cadettes, Seniors and adults cooked dinner at the close of camp.

The cadettes worked on the Challenge of Emergency Preparedness and the Small Boat Survival.

The girls who completed the Challenge of Emergency Preparedness and the Small Boat Survival were awarded the Emergency Preparedness and Small Boat Survival badge. The girls who completed the Challenge of Emergency Preparedness and the Small Boat Survival were awarded the Emergency Preparedness and Small Boat Survival badge.

used throughout the units as aids and instructors.

The parents were invited to the awards ceremony on the last day. The Juniors who received the Dancer Badge under the direction of Mrs. Paddy Johnson performed four dances from different countries. Mrs. John Holmes was in charge of the Troop Dramatic Badge.

These girls made puppets and presented a puppet show for the group. Mrs. Schott and Mrs. Sherry Schwabacker directed the Songster Badge.

This group sang several different kinds of songs. Other badges awarded were the Weaving and Basketry, Gypsy, Foot Traveler, Art in the Round, Health Aid and Home Health and Safety.

Some of the messengers for the Women's Trans-National Golf Tournament held at Diamondhead were Girl Scouts from this area. The girls were Denise Bourg, Ann Schott, Diane Tilton, Diane Caserta and Wendy Ertchen.

This week Senior Troop 3 under the leadership of Mrs. Schott appeared on Good Morning South Mississippi to begin this month as Visibility Month.

The object of Visibility Month is to inform the public of the different levels of Girl Scouting and to show to the community what the Girl Scout program encompasses.

This Neighborhood will need new leaders for the coming year in order to broaden our program.

The training for new leaders will be held in Bay St. Louis starting Tuesday, September 11.

Anyone interested in becoming a leader or assisting in the Girl Scout contact Mrs. Schott at 467-9733 or Mrs. Bourg at 255-1299.

Unusual item donated to USM

By ROGER BRINEGAR

Although parimutuel betting is illegal in Mississippi, the University of Southern Mississippi Foundation may be in a position of "not looking a gift horse in the mouth."

The Foundation has received the unusual gift of two shares in Professor Greene, a thoroughbred colt with an impressive blood line. The gift was presented to the Foundation, a corporation which receives and manages gifts, contributions and donations for educational purposes, by USM alumnus Bill Flowers, 64.

Flowers, an independent businessman with interests in construction and mining now living in California, presented the shares to the College of Business Development Fund of the Foundation in the name of his former professor at USM, Dr. Joseph Greene, dean of the College of Business Administration.

The shares in the horse were donated at a banquet honoring Dr. Greene for 30 years of service to the university.

"Two shares in the yearling will amount to one-fiftieth of any purse he wins," Greene said. Whether Professor Greene will race or not is left to his abilities, trainers and fate, but if blood lines alone determine a winner, he has a better than average chance to compete.

Pretense, one grandfather of Professor Greene, has turned out 71 winners and has earned $404,002. Bold Ruler, the other grandfather of Professor Greene, won 23 races including the Preakness, totaled $784,202 in winnings and Sired Secretariat, a Triple Crown winner.

Dean Greene and members of his family recently returned from California where they saw the colt.

"When my daughter Kathryn, my wife Virginia and I saw the horse at the Roy Rogers Ranch in Victorville, Calif., he was with two other thoroughbreds and we thought he looked awfully good. Later, we went to the races at the Del Mar, Calif., track and realized that all thoroughbreds look awfully good," Greene said. Professor Greene will be eligible to race, if everything goes as scheduled, next July or August.

New feeder cattle

grade standards set

New feeder cattle grade standards go into effect September 2, 1979, according to Joe A. McClure, Federal-State Livestock Market News. Official feeder grades are used in USDA and Federal-State Livestock Market News reports, and they are the basis for certifying the grade of feeder cattle delivered on future contracts.

New feeder cattle grades have two factors to better describe the cattle, and each factor, frame size and muscle thickness, is divided into three degrees.

Frame size includes Large, Medium and Small, and muscle thickness includes No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3.

Cub Scouts vie in fitness events

If your Cub Scout son suddenly starts trying to cross the living room in a single leap, don't worry. He's only trying to get in shape for the Cub Scout Physical Fitness Championship.

Cub Scout Packs throughout the New Orleans Area Council have from now until September 30 to hold their own championships. Gerald F. Villars, director of support services said.

"In the pack, each boy competes against others his own age in five events: standing long jump, softball throw, push-ups, sit-ups, and 50-yard dash," Villars explained. "Each pack's winning three-boy team (one 8-, one 9- and one 10-year-old) goes on to the council championship."

Council Championship will be conducted on Saturday, October 6 at 9 a.m. on Scout Island in City Park with Jerry Grubb serving as chairman. The Council's Junior Scouts are then sent to the South Central Office in Dallas where they are matched against the winners from other councils in the region. The national winners are determined in December. A check of the winners will be made at the time of the 1980 Youth in Motion event in Dallas.

"I plan to go back to California when he races," Dean Greene said. "Just to see how he does."

A GIFT HORSE - Dr. John A. Greene, dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Southern Mississippi, holds a portrait of Professor Greene, a thoroughbred colt named after him. Shares in the horse have been donated to the USM Foundation in Dr. Greene's honor.

Waveland Players' latest production opens friday at Valena Jones Center

The Waveland Players will present "U.T.B.U." (Unhealthy to be unpleasant). Friday and Saturday and again August 31 and Sept. 1 at the Valena C. Jones gymnasium on Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis.

Curtain is at 8:15 p.m. each night.

"Unhealthy to be unpleasant" is a two act comedy by James Kirkwood, the story of a secret organization U.T.B.U. (Unhealthy to be unpleasant) that has sworn to stamp out unpleasantness in the world.

Our story begins when U.T.B.U. receives a call of mother abuse on the famous actor J. Francis Amber.

Mr. Uggins, the blind investigator for U.T.B.U. cannot believe the report and proceeds to investigate.

Can it be that the paragon of virtue, J. Francis Amber, is really trying to do his mother in?

Will Mr. Uggins find the truth? These questions and more will be answered as the play unfolds.

J. Francis Amber is played by Ted Stechmann who has appeared before audiences in the Bay area many times in both acting and directing positions.

Shirley Amber, J. Francis' 94-year-old senile mother, is

R for your child's safety

Electricity is the lifeblood of many modern household appliances which can make a mother's job a little bit easier. But, according to Dr. Albert H. Dommm, child safety specialist and former medical director of the Prudential Insurance Co., that same electric current can cause serious injury or even death for a curious toddler if precaution is not taken.

He urges all parents to inspect their homes for electrical danger spots and take prompt corrective action if any exist.

Dr. Dommm suggests these safeguards: (1) Keep all electric outlets covered when not in use. Curious children can stick conductive objects into uncovered sockets. (2) Be sure you have no worn extension cords. (3) Place all electrical machinery and appliances out of the reach of toddlers. (4) Light switches, electrical appliances, or outlets should not be within reach of the bathtub.

"The bathtub requires special attention from parents since many electrical accidents take place there," he said. "Wet hands and feet increase the possibility of shock."

If such a mishap occurs, shut the current off immediately and remove the victim from the contact using a stick or gloves but not bare hands. Call an ambulance or doctor and administer artificial respiration until help arrives.

Architects cite Navy's NSTL conference center

Five projects designed by Mississippi architects, including a Naval Oceanographic Center at NSTL, received top honors at the annual convention of the Mississippi Chapter of the American Institute of Architecture in Biloxi, August 2-5, according to Jules Lagarde of Bay St. Louis, convention coordinator and AIA associate member.

From the 30 different structures entered in the competition at "A Celebration of Architecture," five projects were selected as examples of award winning architecture.

According to Mississippi chapter president Samuel H. Kaye, AIA, of Columbus, the winners were the new Bailey Avenue Shopping Center, renovation of the McCune Clinic, and renovation of the Allen Residence, all in Jackson; renovation of the Naval Oceanographic Office Conference Center at National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County; and the new Wellons House in Stockbridge, Ga.

Rob Farr, AIA, of the Jackson architectural firm of Cooke-Douglas-Farr Ltd., announced the 1979 winners. Farr served as honor awards chairman for the annual convention.

"All judging was concerned with basic architectural concepts," Farr said. "Each project had to stress clarity, simplicity, and most of all, a sense of timelessness." The panel of three judges were extremely interested in the complexity and difficulty of the problem the designers faced," he further commented.

Architectural firms honored were The Design Collective of Jackson, an Honor Award, for the new structure, the Bailey Avenue Shopping Center, and a citation for renovation of the McCune Clinic; Harrison Associates of Jackson, an Honor Award, for renovation of the Naval Oceanographic Conference Center; Godfrey, Bassett & Tumlinello of Jackson and Vicksburg, an Honor Award, for renovation of the Allen residence; and Ronald Murray of Thomas S. Jones & Associates in Starkville, a citation, for the Wellons House. The jury consisted of James Finch, FAIA, FABRAP Architects; Joseph Amisano, FAIA, Toombs, Amisano, and Wells, Inc.; and Kempton Mooney, AIA, of Robert and Company, Associates, all of Atlanta.

Other convention activities included a Mini-Grass Roots, conducted by Susan Allen, director, Component Services, AIA, Washington, DC.

Also, Donald Durdan with Mobay Chemical Corporation presented a workshop on energy conservation and insulation, and a government affairs seminar directed by James Nelson, AIA, from Delaware.

The Mississippi Chapter of the American Institute of Architects is a statewide professional organization of more than 200 architects.

World records established here during Senior Nationals

By RICH ADAMS
Sports Editor

The largest field of powerlifters ever congregated at St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis Saturday and Sunday to participate in the Amateur Athletic Union-nationwide Senior National Powerlift Meet.

Some 90 iron-pumpers representing 28 states, including the first female ever to lift as a guest lifter in the prestigious event, gathered here to match muscles against the bars and discs of iron.

The only Mississippian to compete in the event, Leroy Mable of Gulfport, captured a second place in his weight division with a total lift of 582 kilos (1,284 pounds).

"It was the biggest field ever in Senior National history," said Brother Bennett, coordinator of the event and powerlift coach at St. Stanislaus.

"Our aim and goal was to present the lifters with the very best Senior National ever," the brother continued.

"Judging from the comments from the lifters, we did just that, especially by having international judges through out the meet," he added.

The only complaint, Brother Bennett noted, was the failure of the facility's air conditioning units, which he said hurt intake at the gate and possibly hurt some of the lifter's performance.

But, the event put St. Stanislaus and Bay St. Louis on the weightlifting map, and has secured the Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium as the site for the already annual Mississippi State Powerlift Meet in February.

Bay St. Louis native Joseph 'Doc' Rhodes, a national and world champion in three weight divisions, withdrew from the meet last month due to a back injury.

The meet was taped by NBC television and is slated to be broadcast in October on 'SportsWorld.' Former San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie is slated as a possible commentator for that broadcast.

In the 114-pound class, strongman Chuck Dunbar lifted a total of 1,149 pounds to take first place in that division.

Joe Steinfeld of Pleasantville, N.Y., came in second with a total lift of 440 kilos, and Doug Heath of Westerville, Ohio, finished third with a 415 kilo total.

In the 123-pound division, Bob Lech of Lancaster, Pa., finished in the top spot with a class, established a world record in the squat, another in the bench press, which he shattered on his next lift, and a world record total with 1,807 pounds. (Staff photo-Leale Williams)

The greatest mistake most "summer" fishermen make is not fishing an area thoroughly, and not looking for bass in deep, cool water.

One way to overcome this problem is to use a method practiced by Mercury outboards' fishing department.

They call it fishing the "magic circle" and here's how it's done. You need a good anchor with 100 feet of stout line.

Using a depth finder, search for a hole where big bass might gather during hot weather.

This is often 35 to 50 feet deep, depending upon the oxygen content of the water.

Study the hole thoroughly on the depth finder to locate its edges, and drop the anchor downwind as near the lee edge as possible.

Let out the full 100 feet of line, allowing the boat to drift until it stops.

Now look at the area you intend to fish and imagine a circle with you at the center.

Begin casting beyond the hole along its right-hand edge, placing each cast approximately 10 degrees to the left of the previous one.

When you've made enough casts to cover the area of the circle where the fish may be, you've either taken a fish or learned no fish are there.

It's time to move on and try someplace else.

The technique may sound silly, but it's designed to force you to fish an area thoroughly.

By doing so, you've improved your chances of catching bass during summer daylight hours.

Make a big catch?

Send us a picture and you'll be in the News.

Include name and details.

SAFETY CORNER

BOATING SAFETY

Boating is one of America's favorite recreations. Be a safety-conscious skipper—avoid a tragedy. Make sure your craft is seaworthy. • Provide each passenger with a personal flotation device. • Don't overload the boat. • Distribute the load evenly. • Don't permit unnecessary standing and moving about in a small boat. • Watch for obstacles, rocks, other boats, swimmers, etc. • Stay with the boat if ever turns or swamps. • Go easy with the drinking.

Meet the Gulf Coast Brownbuilders... members of Brown & Root's worldwide team

Brown & Root, one of the world's largest engineering and construction companies, owes much of its success over the past 60 years to the skills and loyalty of its Brownbuilders.

Along the Gulf Coast, Brownbuilders are designing and constructing offshore oil and gas platforms and pipelines, chemical and petrochemical plants, power plants, bridges, highways and oil field sites.

Whatever we do, wherever we do it, one thing remains the same. We recruit, hire, train and advance as many local people as possible. Gulf Coast Brownbuilders like the ones you see here, working on Brown & Root projects throughout the Gulf Coast states.

It's been our policy for years to hire locally.

Just so wherever Brown & Root works there are job opportunities for people qualified, willing and able to work. That way, local communities, counties, and states get maximum benefit from projects on which we work—in jobs, payrolls, purchases, savings and taxes.

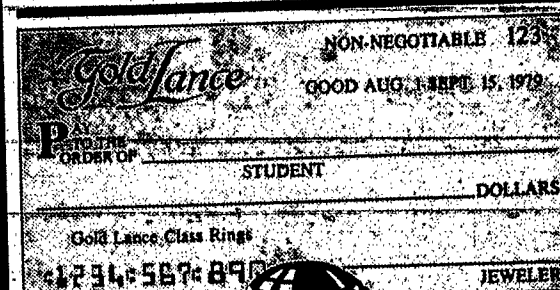

Gulf Coast Brownbuilders...people like you at work near here.

Organizing a backyard party is easy and lots of fun. The truly great challenge is creating a unique party style. And whether you go formal or casual, a bit of tradition, "Kummel German Potato Salad" is always appropriate.

Now for a sip of the unusual—a refreshing treat known as a "Sabra Sparkling Salsa." Fill a highball glass with ice. Pour in 1 cup of mineral water, club soda or seltzer. Add 1/2 cup of Sabra® medium onion salsa. Stir gently. Remove and drain. Garnish with an olive. Makes 1 serving.

Bring to the boil. Boil over potatoes and toss together with bacon pieces. Cool slightly and serve on a platter. Makes 4 servings.

PRJC coach cites HNC, Picayune gridiron stars

Activity around the Pearl River College Field House in Poplarville Saturday morning was a lot quieter than when the Wildcats reported for a two-day workout a week ago. Bodies were moving slower and ace bandages were vividly notable around ankles, shoulders, and arms. Even the coaches, donning much darker tans, were in a kind of "laid back mood."

"We have had a good week," said PRC Head Coach J.C. Arban, as he leaned back pushing a PRC maroon and gold cap farther back on his head.

"It has been hot and we have put 'em through some rough work...but it has been good," Arban said. Assistants Harvey Seligman, Herbert Morris, and David Earl Johnson, who had finally got the coffee pot ready, agreed with Arban's summation of the first week of Wildcat practice.

"My linemen have been working hard," Johnson said, "and they are improving."

"They better be," quipped Seligman, who is in charge of the running backs. "I have got some good backs who can pick up ground if they can get just a little hole," he added.

"Yea, Johnson," Morris chimed in, "I have got some receivers that can catch the ball to, if ya'll give the quarterbacks time to find them."

By this time other newsmen were filing into the field house and things became a little more formal. The Wildcat players were also ready for formal individual and team pictures.

It was PRC's annual Press and Picture Day and the Wildcats' first chance to try out their gladiator suits.

Coach Arban, meantime, was busy getting back to some serious evaluations.

"We have made progress getting people in the right positions this week, but we're still not in real good condition," Arban said.

The PRC skipper, however, was quite pleased with several newcomers to the 'Cat squad. "There are several freshmen that will hit, and that sure is a good sign," Arban said. In the line Arban named Gregg Banks, 215, offensive tackle from Lumberton; Billy Bounds, 217, offensive guard from Petal; and Ascar Craft, 231, offensive tackle-center, Sumrall.

On defense Arban has been impressed with Ladell Bounds, 198, linebacker; Purvis, 181, Swindoll, 160, cornerback, Petal; and Keith Courtney, 161, safety.

Sophomore linemen demonstrating leadership and Picayune. Freshmen in the offensive backfield which are really pushing for a starting role are Yancy McNeil, running back from Mobile; Floyd Johnson, wide receiver from Lumberton; and quarterback Mark Toler of Purvis.

"These men add strength to the various positions and are making the sophomores try harder," Arban said.

The real bright spot for the Wildcats this year is in the form of big, strong, and fast running backs. At fullback will be Rusty Highstreet, Prentiss, and Doug Douglas, Columbia.

"Rusty doesn't think anyone in three states can stop him," Arban said, "and Douglas is a scrappy, determined competitor."

At the tailback position a trio of backs add strength and the break away threat. Anthony Johnson, Picayune; Dennis Rogers, Prentiss; and Denis Nelson, Hancock North Central, have speed and quickness.

Primary receivers will be Kim Davis, Poplarville; Tim Dunnaway, Hattiesburg; Joey Shelton, Oak Grove; Craig Woulard, Hattiesburg; and Roderick Edwards, Lumberton.

Sophomore linemen demonstrating leadership and experience are John Wales, Oak Grove; Adam Danner, Brooklyn; Pat Posey, Pearl River Central; and Pat Waits, Oak Grove.

"We have a good first team line," Arban said, "it is only the backups which worry me."

The PRC coach said he is real pleased with the linebacking corp.

"In fact we may have to use a defense that benefits from the use of additional linebackers," Arban said.

Mark Summers, Picayune; Ricky Malone, Hattiesburg; Kelvin McLeMore, Lumberton; and Ladell Bounds, Purvis are leading candidates at this time.

Andy Coleman, Mobile, and Anthony Williams, Hattiesburg, are the experienced defensive backs for the Wildcats and Ronnie Henshaw, Picayune and Robert Smith, Columbia are set to handle the defensive end duties.

Monster men on defense will be sophomores Joe Johnson, Purvis, and James Gaude of Picayune.

"Our pass protection and busted assignments are the biggest problems facing the Wildcats at this time," Arban said.

"And of course that's what we will be working to correct," he added.
